THANK YOU!

The Latino Community Fund (LCF Georgia) would like to thank all of the leaders that have fought and taken a stance for their communities and securing human and civil rights for all.

Thousands of individuals continue to do this hard work in our country every single day and it is important that we learn about them. We are grateful to the artists that participated and shared their art and talent for this project.

Through their work we are able to tell the amazing stories of the leaders featured in this book and often times missing from our textbooks and schools.

A MESSAGE FOR FAMILIES

The leaders featured in this coloring book, have had a huge impact on millions of peoples lives and a lot of us have never heard their names. Representation in history is important!

Help us share these beautiful stories with our neighbors, friends and family. This is an opportunity to educate ourselves while having fun!

Everyone can make a difference in our communities, we all have the responsibility of protecting and helping each other.

You can help your community by educating, working, and uplifting others. Remember you can register to vote, go out to vote, get counted in the census and expressing what is important to you and your family to your representatives. Your voice matters.
Sophie Cruz was only 5 years old when she ran up to Pope Francis in the middle of a parade with a T-shirt and an important letter. The letter had a powerful message about the immigration issues our communities are living through everyday. She wanted to grow up with her family and not be separated from her parents.

THE RIGHT TO AN UNITED FAMILY

Sophie is right! Kids just like you deserve to grow up with families that live together.

We live in a country that values liberty and freedom of expression. Our parents and families came to the U.S in search of a better future for generations to come.

They work hard to create those opportunities for us. We are proud of our families, our parents and those that are far away.
Felicitas & Sylvia Mendez

ILLUSTRATION BY: JESSICA CALDAS

Felicitas and Sylvia lived in California. Sylvia was not allowed to go to a school close to her house because of the color of her skin (“Whites only, no Mexicans allowed”). Her mom, Felicitas, fought in court and won with Sylvia’s testimony. This was the first case fighting segregated schools in the U.S.

THE FIGHT FOR EQUALITY AND EDUCATION

Did you know that kids of color could not play, or go to the schools in their neighborhoods because of the color of their skin?

They had to go to separate schools that did not have enough resources to get a great education.

Kids everywhere have the right to have an excellent education and be together. Diversity and learning together is beautiful!
Wong Kim Ark was born in the U.S in the late 1800’s. His parents immigrated from China in search for a better life. One day he traveled to China. When he came back home to the U.S, authorities stopped him and said that he was not an American. They discriminated him because of the way he looked. He fought in a case that went all the way up to the Supreme Court and won! Wong Kim Ark, just like anyone born in the U.S is an American.

CIVIL AND IMMIGRANT RIGHTS

Did you know that when you are born in the U.S. you have the same rights as any other American Citizen? It does not matter where your parents, family or grandparents came from or what language they speak. The U.S Constitution protects us!

Wong Kim Ark fought for his right in being recognized as a U.S Citizen. That cannot be taken away from someone based on how they look or the language they speak.
Silvia Rivera

ILLUSTRATION BY: MONICA ALEXANDER

Silvia Rivera was a strong transgender woman that fought for LGBTQAI+ rights. She participated in what is known as the Stone Wall Riots. She also created STAR with her friend Marsha P. Johnson. This was a home where LGBTQAI+ youth could sleep if they did not have a place to sleep at night.

LGBTQIA+ RIGHTS

The LGBTQIA+ community has suffered a lot of discrimination in society and from governmental institutions. Sexual orientation and gender identity should not impact your rights.

People like Sylvia created a movement that has influenced and achieved obtaining human rights for the LGBTQIA+ community. She shows us that love has no barriers.
Tarana Burke

ILLUSTRATION BY: ELLY PAGÁN

Tarana Burke started the #MeToo Movement in 2006 after hearing the assault story of a young girl. #MeToo encourages people to speak out when they have been assaulted. With her work, the conversation about accountability for the people that did harm to others went viral and started this very important conversation.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS

Everyone should always be respected and feel safe. Studies show that 80% of female farmworkers have been harassed in the U.S.

A lot of hard working women share these stories too. We need more leaders like Tarana in our communities to uplift our voices and fight for our rights!
Arturo Alfonso Schomburg

ILLUSTRATION BY: LAURA VELA

Arturo Alfonso Schomburg dedicated his life to documenting the history of black Americans and black Latinos around the world. These stories spoke the reality of Afro-decedent communities. He also helped found “Club Borinquen” to promote Puerto Rican civic participation.

CIVIL RIGHTS & REPRESENTATION

It is important for people’s story to be told. Everyone should have civil rights and representation regardless of their race or the color of their skin.

Through Arturo Alfonso’s work, seeds for the Civil Rights movement in the U.S were planted. By telling the stories of black communities in the U.S. and Latin America, stories of injustice were told and later addressed.
Known as the “Princess Wynnoogenee”, Laura Cornelius Kellogg was a leader for the Iroquois, one of the original indigenous nations the north-east of what is now the U.S. Laura fought for the rights of indigenous lands and a government for the native people by native people. They are the original inhabitants of this land.

INDIGENOUS RIGHTS

The U.S. was a country colonized by Europeans. Unfortunately, indigenous civilizations were abused and violated to the point of almost becoming extinct in many cases. Fighters like Laura are proud of where they come from and worked to preserve their land, tradition and culture. Do you know which culture or tribe lived on the land you live now?
The LGBTQIA+ community has had to fight a lot for the rights that they have today. The fight still continues.

Thanks to Stormé and her bravery, a lot of LGBTQIA+ communities took action to defend themselves. Everyone deserves love and acceptance no matter who they love or how they identify. LOVE IS LOVE!
Petra Allende

ILLUSTRATION BY: ARIANA RIVERA

Petra Allende fought for voting rights and helped educate people who could not read and write in New York City. In her day, communities of color had to take literacy tests to vote. This law made it so that millions of people could not vote. Petra worked hard to change this so that our communities would not be suppressed.

She was a factory worker and sewed for a living. She was called the “Mayor of the Neighborhood”.

CIVIL AND IMMIGRANT RIGHTS

Historically, there have been many efforts to suppress our communities’ participation in elections.

Thanks to Petra and other activists, now a lot of us can vote without being afraid. It is everyone’s job to preserve the right to vote. This allows us to decide what’s best for our communities.

Rodolfo “Corky” Gonzalez was part of the Chicano movement. He lived in Denver, Colorado and he would register Mexican-Americans to vote. He was also a boxer, organizer and poet.

He always fought for social, economic and political justice. His poem, “Soy Joaquin”, inspired the Chicano Movement. He noted that his community was not Native, European, Mexican nor Americans. We are a combination of all those identities.

VOTING RIGHTS

It is important to participate in your community. Take the time to learn about the candidates, get organized and vote! Let’s use our right to vote and elect candidates that reflect the values of our communities.

It is important to also run ourselves! Nobody knows your community better than you.
